COAST ITEMS.

The Tecoma News has made its appearance as a daily.

Dr. E. A. Jones, a Portland physician, has been arrested for forgery. Eight hundred and ninety-five children attend public schools at Seattle, W. T.

Frank Hogan, a noted Seattle rowdy escaped from the jail at that place on Monday.

Captain Alexander of the Queen of the Pacific is reported seriously ill at Astoria.

There are several boys from 17 to 20 years old in the chain gang at Los Angeles.

Andrew Buchanan, a railway-tie cutter aged 25 years, was drowned by the upsetting of a canoe in Fraser river last week.

The police force at Helena, M. T. is to be increased by the addition of three more officers.

Stockton licenses liquor dealers at $16 per quarter, and has fixed the State tax at one per cent.

Russell Burt, for embezzlement, has been sentenced to six months in the County Jail at Santa Clara.

The rains have done no material damage to grapes in the Pajaro Valley. The bean crop has been partially injured.

Thos. Courtwright, employed as superintendent of the coal-bunkers at Tacoma was killed by falling from a chute 65 feet high.

The San Joaquin county Supervisors have passed an ordinance exempting merchants and tradesmen (except dealers in liquors) from paying license.

A brakeman named H. E. Johnson was run over on Tuesday by a train, near Aurora, on the Oregon and California Railroad. Both legs were cut off and he died in a very short time.

Several thousand acres of salt marsh land about Sonoma creek and between that and Petaluma creek have been reclaimed and are now profitably cultivated. Hay has been the principal crop and the yield is very large.

The Washington County Fair opened Wednesday near Hillsboro. A heavy rain prevailed all day and the attendance was not large. There will be some good tests of speed and the display promises to be quite credible.

An admission fee of 50 cents is now charged visitors to the ostrich farm at Anaheim. The object of this tariff is to discourage the rush of visitors who seriously interfere with the work on the farm. The birds are breeding and require careful attention.

An Important Decision

A case of interest to persons carrying life insurance has just been decided in the San Francisco Superior Court. It was that of J. Winterhalter, executor of the estate of Fritz Hoffmaster, deceased, vs. the Workmen's Guaranteed Fund Association. The deceased was insured by the defendant for $1,000, payable to his widow upon his death, which amount the association was anxious to pay her. The creditors of the deceased claimed the money, and the question whether the claimant was entitled to receive the same was the issue involved. The Court rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff, and therefore the amount becomes assets of the estate, to be disbursed by the executor. This decision upsets previous rulings, which held that insurance on a man's life in favor of his wife could not, at his death, be attached or claimed by his creditors.

The Louisville Courier-Journal gives Nevada's vote to Carlisle, for Speaker. When Cassidy was in Reno he thought Randall would be the man, but expressed himself as liable to vote for "the winner," in order to be Chairman of a Committee, or be in a position to obtain favors not usually granted to those on the losing side of a fight. The Democratic fight for Speaker is Randall and Protection or Carlisle and Free Trade. Randall will not be elected.

Daggett's father-in-law is reported to have a "sack" of a million. If he enters the Senatorial race he will have this "sack" behind him, and then, of course, the Austin Revell will oppose him, because it favors poor men.

The Minneapolis Tribune favors Senator Edmunds of Vermont, as Republican candidate for President, and Senator Miller, of California, for Vice President, as the two best men under the circumstances for securing victory.

Ex-Vice President Colfax and ex-Governor Bross, of Illinois, are traveling over the Northern Pacific en route to visit Puget Sound.

A Tilden Democratic Club has been formed in San Francisco. Bah for the "old ticket."

ARTESIAN WELLS.

The Advantages of Sierra Valley For Them.

("J. H." in the Sierra Valley Leader.)

The writer has frequently expressed the opinion in conversation that an abundance of pure water can be had almost anywhere in Sierra Valley by boring artesian wells. To call the attention of those most interested, the farmers, more fully to this matter, I propose in this paper to give some of the reasons for the faith that is in me. In order to have flowing wells that will yield water in large quantities, there must exist certain natural conditions; 1st there must be reservoirs of water at a considerable altitude above the proposed wells; 2nd there must be a certain order in the character of the formation of the valley in which the wells are to be sunk. Let us consider these two propositions. I need not say to persons at all acquainted with the mountains by which this valley is surrounded, that there are numerous lakes, large and small, and numberless streams of water in every direction. Several of these lakes without outlet and at only the driest season of the year will the evaporation on account for the inflow. The streams flow down to the edge of the plains and disappear. I am very certain that in no single instance will the evaporation account for the suddenness with which the water of these streams disappear. It is conceded by everybody that there is plenty of water if we could only get to it. Now for my second proposition; the formation of the valley. I hardly need say that this valley was at one time a lake, with its waters very much higher than the present general surface. To the east of Layalton two or three hundred feet above the town, there are unmistakable evidences of a lake beach, and I doubt not that a novice in geology will have no trouble in defining the river channel below Beckwith a long distance above the present bed of the stream. During the long ages that have passed since the lake was formed the mountains have been worn away by the action of frost and water, and perhaps by glaciers, and the debris has been washed down into the lake constantly filling it up until at last the waters flowed over the low ridge that formerly existed below Beckwith. The constant erosion of the stream out the channel down bit by bit, until at last the filling up of the lake has not gone on at an even pace; sometimes when the mountains were rocked with earthquakes and their sides were torn by these great ice-plows, the glaciers, the filling went on rapidly; but soon a period of quiet came and the process went on more slowly. During the period of great activity, coarse gravel was deposited, and at the periods of quiet the material was ground fine and beds of clay and compact "hard pan" were formed. These periods of activity and quiet alternated several times, so we have layers of coarse gravel and clay, probably from the bottom up to the very latest alluvial deposit that forms the surface. Now these are precisely the conditions required for artesian wells, to wit, alternate layers of gravel and clay, with water running into the gravel from higher sources and the clay to hold it down. If we bore through the clay the water contained in the gravel beneath will come to the surface, and the force of the flow will be in proportion to the amount of pressure it is subject to beneath. Numerous large springs all around the edge of the valley give evidence that there is water beneath finding its way through rough and tortuous channels. It has already been demonstrated that beneath the alluvial deposits there is clay, and even this clay contains seams of water, put nowhere has this clay been penetrated to reach the gravel upon which it lies. This is what needs to be done. These are the considerations in brief, that have led me to assert with so much confidence that an abundance of flowing water for irrigation and domestic use, can be had by boring for it, that the thousands of acres of land in this valley, now vacant or only used to pasture a few cattle, might be converted into farms that would be pleasant and profitable homes for five or six thousand people. I leave it to every one interested in the growth or development of Sierra Valley, if it is not worth while making an effort to find out what is beneath our feet in the form of streams of water.

A Big Manufacturing Company.

One of the most important enterprises ever established on the Pacific Coast was incorporated Thursday, under the name of the Pacific Steam Agricultural Manufacturing Company; capital, $5,000,000. Among the Directors are Leland Stanford, Moses Hopkins, Irving M. Scott and Governor Perkins.

Stanford's Health

In a letter received within a day or two by C. P. Huntington, Governor Stanford speaks of great improvement in his health and that of his wife since their arrival in Kissinger, and another letter from him to another correspondent announces his intention to return to this country in a short time.

Misery is a mild word to describe the mischief to body and mind caused by habitual constipation. The regular use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills, in mild doses will restore the torpid viscera to healthy activity. Try them and be cured.

Important Words from Senator Edmunds.

The following is double-loaded at the head of editorials in the New York Times: "The attention of the whole country will be drawn to the Episcopal Convention at Philadelphia by the words spoken yesterday by Senator Edmunds. He is reported to have said in declining the Presidency of the Convention that he 'was not a candidate of this or any other place, at this or any other time.' This is a very important utterance. We hope Senator Edmunds has been misrepresented, or at least that he may reconsider his determination."

Michigan Presidential Preferences.

A Detroit paper publishes the result of interviews with 866 leading Michigan Republicans concerning their views for President. James G. Blaine is favored by 247, General Sherman by 49, G. F. Edmunds by 150, John A. Logan by 24, Chester A. Arthur by 143, Robert Lincoln by 131, Scattering 77, no choice 45.

According to the Reno Journal, neither President Arthur, Senator Jones nor Congressman Cassidy are responsible for the discontinuance of the Carson Land Office. Then tell the people of this State who is responsible for the discontinuance of that office—Austin Revell.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office, who has supervision of all land offices and officers.

Headley is completely broken down and for the second time has been compelled to withdraw from the Ohio canvass.

ALL GLIDE.—The Carson Appeal says: Empire is getting very ambitious. There is a haunted house there now, and it is said that the spectral occupant has been seen by a dozen people. A ghost that has not intelligent enough to select a more cheerful abiding place than Empire is a very cheap affair. He should go to Reno.

The Ohio Democracy dropped Thurman out of the Senate for his work in bringing to account the overland railroad companies, and now they are leading Pendleton for having introduced his civil service reform bill. The humbugging Democracy must go.—Eureka Leader.

A HOME DRUGGIST TESTIFIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:—

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism, so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."

was for over twenty years before his removal to Lowell afflicted with Salt Rheum in its worst form. Its ulcerations actually covered more than half the surface of his body and limbs. He was entirely cured by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1883.

Couldn't Afford It.

Made Honest by Business Principles a Druggist Tells the Square Truth.

"Now, my friend, let's be perfectly frank and candid about this little matter," the druggist said, placing his elbows on his plated showcase and looking his customer fairly in the eye. You have a lame back and want a plaster to put on it. You don't know me, and, judging of human nature as it runs in business, you are afraid I'll humbug you in some way. You may think it an odd statement, but I can't afford to cheat you. Even if I did I haven't the means.

"That's curious. (Oh, my back! I'll take a chair, I guess.) Don't you keep plaster?"

"Oh, yes, one or two kinds. Once I had shelves full of them—every sort that were ever invented to gull the ignorant and make money for imitators. But I sifted 'em out one by one, and now sell BENSON'S CAPSINE PODOUS PLASTERS principally. They always give satisfaction, and in the end it pays me to sell them in preference to all others."

"Haven't you Alcock's?"

"Yes, but my customers and myself prefer Benson's Capsine—which are quick as electricity, safe as Government bonds and sure as the law of gravitation. The doctors order them, and what is more to the point, I never have heard a complaint from any one who has used them. You can go elsewhere—if your back will bear you out in the operation—and get another and a cheaper plaster, but—"

"Don't talk to me about the money," broke in the comfort-seeking stranger, with some heat. "What's ten or fifteen cents to getting rid of this confounded—oh, Lordy!—this pain and lameness? Let me have one of Benson's Capsine."

That's the real article, is it with the word CAPSINE cut in the body of the plaster.

"You'll be around in a week, straight and strong," added the diplomatic druggist, throwing the money in his cash drawer.

The Virginia Chronicle says the quartz still continues to come in the bottom of the Union-Sierra Nevada winze, which is now about 90 feet below the 3,000 level. The quartz dips at an angle of 75 degrees, so that the winze must be sunk about 20 feet further before the bottom is entirely covered by the material. Select pieces from a streak coming in from the northwest, assay as high as $50, but the material would not average more than half that amount. It is certainly encouraging, however, to meet with good quartz at that depth. West crosscut No. 2 is being pushed forward in the same material.

SHARON VS. HILL.

Sharon Begins a Suit Against Miss Hill—Return Suit.

Senator Sharon on Thursday commenced suit in the United States Circuit Court against Aggie Hill, declaring that the alleged contract of marriage between himself and her, claimed by Miss Hill to be in her possession, is a fraudulent document; that no such contract was ever signed by him or any promise of marriage given. He asks the Court to compel Miss Hill to produce the alleged contract, and retain possession of it, that the fraudulency of it may be proven. He denies ever having been married since he became a widower, and states that the object of Miss Hill in perpetrating the alleged marriage contract is to lay claim to his estate in the event of his death.

Miss Hill, in answer to Senator Sharon's suit, filed against her in the United States Circuit Court, replies through Attorney Neilson, that she will immediately start proceedings against Sharon in the Superior Court, and not wait a decision in the Federal Court, her attorney alleging that it is a movement to keep up the litigation for four or five years. She says Sharon only gains access to that Court as a citizen of Nevada; that the records of the city and county have been searched, and it was found that on fifty-four different occasions, within the last three years, the Senator has sworn that he is a citizen of the State of California. An official of the United States Court stated Thursday that Miss Hill could not be found to serve papers on her, nor did any of her friends seem to know where she had gone.

Vine Culture.

The JOURNAL has taken some trouble to ascertain from parties who have had experience in the business, the kind of grapes that flourish best in this climate. It seems to be generally conceded that the varieties universally cultivated in California will not grow to perfection on this side of the mountains. All will blossom and bear, but the late varieties are out off by early frosts before the fruit has time to ripen. R. P. M. Kelley, of the Arlington Nursery, who has, perhaps, given this subject as much careful study as any other man in the State, says that the Concord, Julia, or any early and hardy variety will flourish admirably any where in the State. Any of the Eastern grapes will grow here to perfection, and the fruit is much larger and better flavored than that produced off the same vine in the Eastern States.

Arabian Millet.

The following from the Los Angeles Times may interest some farmers in this county who have been experimenting with Arabian millet. The Times says: "Evergreen millet thrives splendidly on our dryest mesa lands, but is a failure on moist bottom lands. Mr. Dupuy, of the firm of Dupuy & Hicks, gave A. Joubin, of Cienega, some seeds a few months ago, which he planted in well-prepared moist lands. To his surprise, the plant proved a total failure, while the crop which his neighbors planted on the mesa grew and thrived in the most gratifying manner."

The Orphans' Home.

The Carson Index says: "a visit to the Orphans' Home is at all times a pleasure. It should be regarded as one of the noblest institutions of our State. Col. Mills is constantly improving the premises and is demonstrating the fact that aside from a genuinely paternal mode of kindly government of the State wards he is one of the very best of farmers. The interior of the home is as neat, clean and orderly as could be wished, and Mrs. Mills spares neither time nor trouble in attending to every detail."

Too Honest.

Jim Burge, the gentleman who some months ago took a commitment from the Justice of the Peace at Truckee, and delivered himself to the Sheriff of the county, at Nevada City, is in town. It is not known whether the authorities of Nevada county paid him for executing that warrant or not. The Commissioners probably have his claim under advisement.

Blackleg Among Cattle.

J. W. Simpson tells the Eureka Sentinel that the blackleg has broken out among the cattle in his region. It attacks the young cattle only—yearlings and calves. They die in two or three hours after they are attacked. Only a few have died yet, but the farmers are afraid the disease is going to spread.

Frank Merrill is in from Peavine. He says there is still unmistakable signs of life in that camp. Laff Hunt and J. H. Corlis and others are busy working assessments on their mines.

GRANVILLE F. FOSTER, Superintendent.

A Street-Car Crushed by a Railway Train.

An inbound train on the North Pennsylvania branch of the Philadelphia and Reading railway, ran into a street-car on the Union line at Susquehanna avenue and American street, in Philadelphia, yesterday morning. The car was demolished and all the passengers more or less injured. Ten persons who were most severely injured were taken to the Episcopal Hospital and two since died. The driver of the street car was in the car at the time of the accident. Those who have died are James Hamill and James Devine. Wouldn't wonder if there was another storm soon.
